MAGPIE'S NEST

Welcome to the summer edition of Magpies Nest. There have been some big changes recently at the Nest, with the shop moving into larger premises. We are still located on Armentieres Square, and you can still park outside the shop for 2 hours for free. We really believe that Stalybridge is a great town to have a retail business in, which is why we have made a big commitment to the town. We have expanded our existing product ranges and brought in new products to give you more choice. Most of our existing and new products are hand selected and most are available in larger out of town department stores. Now you don't need to travel far to get the brands and products you like.

We are very excited to be official Radley Leather stockists, with leather handbags and purses being available in the new store. We are continuing to stock our usual brands such as Fiorelli, Modalu, Yoshi, Kipling, Oilily and NICA. There are also a few more new handbag brands joining the Nest that offer great style and design at really good prices.

Our giftware collection has significantly grown with a whole ground floor dedicated to gifting. We have been working with Wax Lyrical candles for the last year and are delighted to be bringing their Colony Range into the Nest this summer. There are some gorgeous summery scents! We continue to work with local handmade company Wild Olive, who produce the most fabulous bath, Sundae's and truffles. We are also excited to be stocking William Morris products; they have the most beautiful packaging. In the Jewellery range we now have Carrie Elspeth, and Equilibrium – lots of sparkles to choose from.

We are friendly Magpies, and would love for you to call into our new shop and have a look at our new products – who knows, it might make gifting a lot easier... and local!

FULTON UMBRELLAS AT MAGPIE'S NEST

We are very proud to be official stockists for Fulton umbrellas, this is why... In 1956, in a small factory in Whitechapel in the East End of London, Arnold Fulton, inventor and Mechanical Engineer, began designing and producing umbrellas, and Fulton Umbrellas was born.

Arnold's dedication to reliability and efficiency, and his fascination with improving umbrella frame design, led to him pioneering specialist machinery and manufacturing processes to enhance quality and streamline umbrella production, in a way that the umbrella industry had never seen before.

Inspired by catwalks in New York, Milan, Paris and London, Fulton's experienced in-house designers expertly translate cutting edge fashion trends to umbrellas and rainwear.

The eye-catching seasonal ranges encapsulate the latest designer influences, whilst maintaining a sophisticated and balanced offering to ensure that there is something for everyone.

Combining the aesthetic design of their products, from the fashion prints to handle and case designs, together with the technical performance criteria which underlie every umbrella, Fulton ensure that their products are unique from a functional as well as visual perspective.

Setting themselves apart from the rest, Fulton began collaboration with exciting British designers starting with Cath Kidston in 2003. Fulton was approached by designers to participate in their accessories collections and this gave rise to the idea of linking the best of Fulton with the best of the design world, a first for the umbrella industry in the UK.

To date, design collaborations have included Lulu Guinness, Orla Kiely, William Morris, Simeon Farrar, Ella Doran and more recently Julie Dodsworth. In all cases these eminent designers opted to dual-brand our products which is a true testament to Fulton's reputation and quality.

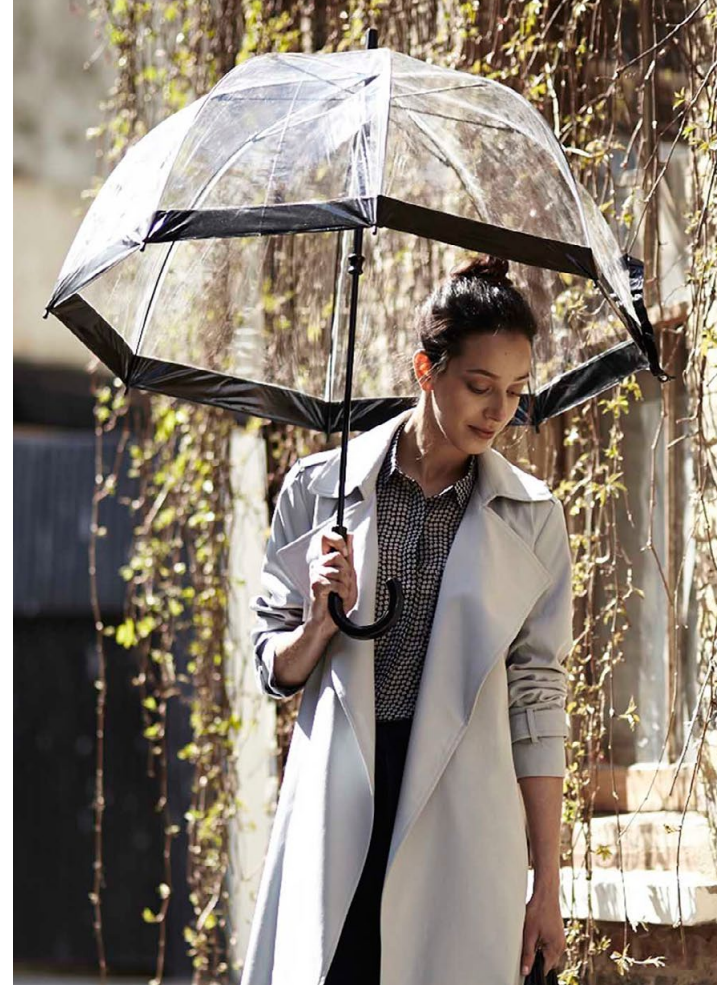

This summer Magpies Nest will be stocking Orla Kiely, William Morris and Lulu Guinness umbrellas as part of the Fulton umbrella range.

CAPRICIOUS TRAILS

OILILY FASHION BAGS SPRING SUMMER 2016

Every woman's life is a Capricious Trail, provoking different moods and temperaments every step of the way. It challenges you to expect the unpredictable, the witty and the charming. How boring would life be if every next stage would only take you on a trail already trodden? The Capricious Trails collection wants to be that single butterfly that casually flies by on a summer's day; that surprising drop of water on a sun kissed afternoon; or that unexpected gesture of a friend or lover that just makes your day.

This season brings together a number of prints, shapes, colors and materials that are both memorable and expressive. The delicate color palette and hand painted prints add a sophisticated touch to any woman's wardrobe. The collection is built on a strong foundation: the North/South Tote. We offer the Tote in each print in our mini-collection Blend, introducing all the main players of this season. The Tote is finished with luxurious full-leather details with eye catching stitch work.

Take a look at the Spiro Flower print: an Oriental flower print drawn with the help of a Spirograph, celebrating the mathematical precision of Mother Nature. Or the Violets print: an abstract artwork that sees blotches and specks of color that represent the flora and fauna of spring. Don't miss the Art Deco butterflies that seem to have fluttered in from yet another day and age! One of our more abstract prints of the season is the Pebble Stones. Have you ever looked through the looking glass at a grain of sand? The tiny grains are actually capricious and whimsical pieces of rock that challenge the imagination.

Our Capricious Trail ends at a high note: two wonderfully luxurious full leather shoppers, called Magical Summer. The hand feel is soft, and the bags ooze a sense of quality and finesse. This is the kind of bag that will stay with you forever, that you will treasure throughout all of life's exciting twists.

Just like OILILY will never be just one fixed notion, each woman is full of surprising and capricious sides that are all part of her one true self. Be proud of all that is you!

James Hutchins started making chocolate by hand back in 1995. He'd been working in a Bristol delicatessen and became fascinated by the exotic ingredients and different flavour combinations that lined the shelves.

He channeled this new-found foodie enthusiasm into his love of great chocolate and, using his background as a scientist, began experimenting in his kitchen at home during the evenings.

Nearly 20 years on, James is still at the heart of the business and his vision and creativity fuels all chocolate development. James Chocolates can be found in delicatessens, farm shops, garden centres and department stores across Britain and increasingly in the world's finest food halls.

James' sense of fun and his love of distinctive flavour combinations remains the brand's hallmark. Whatever next? Come and try James Chocolates, at Magpies Nest.
